

Acheson Opens Drive For Atlantic Pact

Asks Action On European Arms Plan

Washington, June 22—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson today opened an administration drive to get approval of the North Atlantic Pact and a $1,130,000,000 arms-for-Europe program in this session of Congress.

His call for action got quick approval from the Senate's two leaders in foreign affairs—Senator Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the foreign relations committee, and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.).

Acheson had a secret huddle with the foreign relations committee where he stressed the urgency of keeping pressure against Russia.

He also issued a formal statement. The failure of the Big Four foreign ministers conference in Paris to reach agreement on a unified Germany, Acheson said, "re-emphasizes the utmost importance of ratification of the North Atlantic pact and passage of the military assistance program at this session of Congress."

The 12-nation treaty must be ratified by a two-thirds vote of the senate before it becomes binding on the U.S.

The arms plan must be approved by a majority vote in both Houses.

One committee member said privately that Acheson emphasized these points during the closed-door meeting:

1. The arms-for-Europe program may be sent to congress by President Truman before the North Atlantic pact is ratified.

2. Russia has been balked in the cold war and will "coast along" to await developments throughout the world while resisting any move to nullify the gains she has made.

3. Britain and France are insisting they be given arms as quickly as possible as a positive token the United States will aid them in case of an attack.

4. There is "remarkable unanimity" among the United States, Great Britain and France in dealing with Russia.

Washington, June 22—(AP)—A fist-swinging brawl between the 83-year-old dean of the House, Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.), and Rep. Cox (D-Ga.) plunged the House today into a roaring battle over housing legislation.

Right on the floor of the House, the veteran Sabath and the 69-year-old Cox went one fast round to no decision. Each landed once or twice.

Long after it was all over they shook hands and said "sorry."

But while it lasted, they were punching away solidly, and setting the tone for debate over one of the most controversial bills of the session—a measure to authorize a long range housing program.

The eye-witness version of Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) went like this:

"At the moment, Sabath was in charge of alloting time for debate. Cox asked for 10 minutes. Sabath said he couldn't spare that much. Walter said that Cox called Sabath a liar."

"Cox slapped him in the mouth and knocked off his glasses," Walter said. "Sabath jabbed him with a left and right. A couple of beatings."

Rep. Delaney (D-N.Y.) pushed his 200 pounds between them. That ended the scrap.

But it didn't settle the deep-seated row over housing, although the debate took on a distinctly second-grade interest.

Before the house, probably for the rest of the week, is a bill to authorize a long-term public housing program, slum clearance, and development of farm homes. It is one of the big parts of President Truman's program.

The House Republican policy committee is against the bill, but some Republicans probably will vote for it.

Two Court Justices Testify For Hiss

New York, June 22—(AP)—Two U.S. supreme court justices and an appeals judge doffed their black robes today and became common law court witnesses for Alger Hiss, accused of perjury.

All testified as character witnesses that Hiss enjoyed an excellent reputation when he was a government employee in Washington.

The three were Justices Felix Frankfurter and Stanley M. Reed.

Evades Questions By Staying Month In U.N. Offices

Lake Success, June 22—(AP)—For almost a month, a Czechoslovak citizen employed by the United Nations information center in Prague has evaded questioning by the secret police by refusing to leave the U. N. offices, it was learned here tonight.

The man is a 50-year-old clerk named Murdoch who is wanted for questioning in connection with alleged anti-state activities of persons now on trial in Czechoslovakia.

Under an international convention on privileges and immunities, all U. N. offices are recognized as international territories inviolable by local police.

Other employees of the U. N. in Prague have brought food to Murdoch, enabling him to remain in the offices.

Some relief developed Wednesday in the northeast's June drought and heat wave.

Showers fell in central, northern and southeastern New York state. They moved on parched New Jersey. Temperatures were less extreme in New England and New York after nearly a week of unbroken daytime peaks in the 90s.

Except for lowering temperatures, however, tinder dry Massachusetts found no relief in sight. Forecasters saw no appreciable rainfall there or in Rhode Island and Connecticut for the next few days.

Heavy rains fell in Maine Tuesday, and there were showers in New Hampshire and Vermont, relieving conditions somewhat in those states and lessening forest fire danger.

The 23-day drought was declared ended in many New York State areas. However, bone dry areas remained in the extreme eastern and western portions of the state and in the Metropolitan and Long Island areas.

In northern New York, rainfall ranged up to .68 of an inch Tuesday night and early Wednesday, bringing the five-day precipitation in that area to 1.58 inches.

Willard H. Allen, New Jersey secretary of agriculture, estimated the loss in farm crops at $10,000,000. He said the state's potato and blueberry crops are in critical shape.

Pass City Aid Plan In Conflict With Governor's

By Charles Whalen
Springfield, Ill., June 22—(AP)—The Illinois Senate passed a $50,000,000 city aid plan today which conflicts with one backed by Governor Stevenson calling for $34,000,000.

The Senate version of city aid is known as the property tax abatement program. It passed by a vote of 30 to 2, and advanced to the House.

Stevenson's proposal to hand state grants to cash poor cities at the rate of $2.50 for each resident; passed the House Monday night and is pending in the Senate.

The two houses will have to get together in the next eight days and choose one of the plans if any city aid is to be enacted.

The Senate bills were drafted by the Illinois Revenue Laws commission, a legislative group headed by Sen. Merritt J. Little (R-Aurora) which studied revenue problems.

Here is how this plan proposes to distribute the $50,000,000 in the next two years:

A city district would get extra grants, in addition to its regular aid, from the state treasury. Then, 2% of the city's population would be cut from school property taxes would be cut by an amount equal to the supplemental grants.

A city in turn would increase its tax rate to produce a sum equal to the tax reduction made by the coinciding school district.

SEE VOTE SOON ON COLLEGE PROBE

Springfield, Ill., June 22—(AP)—The Illinois House may vote Friday or later on whether to exonerate the University of Chicago and Roosevelt College, Chicago, in a legislative investigation of any subversive activities there.

Chicago, June 22—(AP)—The U. S. savings bond drive is 13.5 per cent short of its quota in Illinois with one week left to go.

The treasury department reported that sales of "E" bonds in the current drive have reached $77,044,000. Illinois' quota for the campaign, which will end June 30, is $89,000,000.

Twenty-six downstate counties have reached their quota. The counties and percentage of quota reached are:

Macoupin, 156.6%; Schuyler, 152.3%; Gallatin, 141.7%; Franklin, 138.5%; Jasper, 136.9%; Edwards, 135.7%; Fulton, 132.5%; Clay, 123.5%; Brown, 121.5%; Grundy, 117.9%; McDonough, 115.7%; Effingham, 113.5%; Pike, 112.6%; Wayne, 112.2%; Douglas, 111.3%; Ford, 110.7%; Mercer, 110.4%; Johnson, 109.9%; White, 109.7%; Cumberland, 106.9%; Shelby, 106.7%; Monroe, 106.7%; Christian, 106.5%; Kendall, 106.2%; Moultrie, 104.2%; and Hamilton, 101.5%.

Gas Tax Vote Friday; Kill License Fee Bill

By Louis J. Kramp
Springfield, Ill., June 22—(AP)—Bills to boost automobile and truck license fees were killed today in the Illinois legislature.

A bill to tighten up personal property tax collections on cars also was beaten.

The Senate, however, refused to take action which Democratic leaders said would kill their bill to extend the two per cent sales tax.

Meanwhile, the nickel gasoline tax bill was set for a vote Friday in a House committee. A full House decision may come next week, a few days before the legislature quits for good on June 30.

House opponents threatened a filibuster to stop any quicker House showdown on the gas tax bill which the Senate passed yesterday with one vote to spare. The measure adds two cents to the present three cents a gallon levy.

The Senate today was in a much different mood about passing higher taxes. By lopsided margins, it defeated other recommendations of a legislative commission which brought in a series of bills to get more money to pay for road improvements.

The defeated recommendations were bills to increase passenger car licenses by 15 per cent and truck licenses by 20 per cent.

The bills would have brought in an extra $700,000 a year, compared with the additional $34,000,000 a year from the gas tax proposal.

Communists Defy Vatican's Orders To Czech Catholics

Prague, Czechoslovakia, June 22—(AP)—Leaders of the communist-sponsored Catholic Action society defied the Vatican's excommunication tonight and accused the church hierarchy in Czechoslovakia of anti-state activity.

The Catholic separatists thus added their voices to that of Premier Antonin Zapotocky who last night accused Archbishop Josef Beran of illegally inciting the people against the government and threatened that the law will take its course.

The government-sponsored Catholic Action has been denounced by Archbishop Beran and the Vatican as a fraudulent and "schismatic" organization because it intends to split the church and make it ripe for subjugation to anti-Christian ideas.

Promoters of the organization have been declared automatically excommunicated by the Vatican.

Today some Catholic employees in government offices reported they were being required to sign statements saying they did not support the archbishop. They reported to their priests that they signed the statements to keep their jobs and dwellings.

The archbishop was believed still in his police-guarded castle where he has been silent since Sunday. At that time demonstrators broke up his sermon in St. Vitus cathedral.

AEC Official Says National Security OK In That Line

Washington, June 22—(AP)—The Atomic Energy commission's production manager, Walter J. Williams, testified today that the nation's security "as far as making bombs is concerned is O. K."

Appearing before a Senate-House investigating committee, Williams declared:

"We have nothing to be ashamed of, if you take it in balance. I believe if we were permitted to tell the public what has been accomplished, the people would feel the program is in good hands."

Williams' testimony came as Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) kept pounding away at his charges that AEC Chairman David E. Lilienthal has directed the atomic program with "incredible mismanagement" during the past two years.

The Superior Court ruling by Judge Frank M. Padden disposed of only one of three injunction suits on the phone rate question.

Still pending are the company's request for a permanent injunction against the Illinois Commerce commission to block interference with the company's proposed $34,100,000 rate increase, and an action by the city of Chicago seeking to knock out rate raises granted the company since Dec. 2, 1947.

The utility had gone over the head of the ICC in filing its injunction suits with the court. The commerce commission now has the $34,100,000 rate hike proposal under consideration. The commission had granted Illinois Bell a smaller temporary increase at the rate of $7,600,000 a year—until Oct. 10 pending a decision on the higher rate demand.

Judge Padden pointed out that the company has been granted rate hikes of more than $30,000,000 a year since the end of World War II.

How They Voted

Washington, June 22—(AP)—Here is the way the following midwestern senators voted today when the senate defeated, 55 to 27, the Douglas-Aiken amendment to the administration labor bill.

Illinois—Douglas (D) and Lucas (D), for the amendment.

Indiana—Capehart (R) and Jenner (R) against.

Iowa—Hickenlooper (R) against.

Wisconsin—Wiley (R) absent but announced as against, McCarthy (R), against.

Missouri—Donnell (R) against.

Kem (R) absent but announced as against.

Will Restore Freight Movements In Berlin

Berlin, June 22—(AP)—Berlin's 14,000 anti-Communist railway strikers agreed today to lift the "little blockade" of the city's western sectors without calling off the rest of their walkout.

Union leaders, however, admitted doubt that the Russian-controlled railway management would cooperate in the "emergency service" plan.

The strikers said they would restore West Berlin's rail supply lines to normal in accordance with the wishes of the Big Four foreign ministers. The Big Four agreed in Paris that the U.S., British, French and Russian commanders in the four-power city were obligated to try to end the city's tangled transport problem.

The non-communist union (UGO) called the strike five weeks ago.

Elevated Remains Stalled

A union spokesman said the decision to restore normal rail freight traffic to West Berlin without ending the strike means:

1—The western sector elevated trains which carry nearly 1,000,000 passengers daily will remain stalled.

2—Any rail freight consigned to the Russian zone will not move through the western sectors, which the strikers control.

Following urgings from American and British officials the union admitted it was "obligated to establish emergency service immediately."

Offer Inter-Zonal Trains

"We will offer inter-zonal trains to Potsdam and accept them from there," Heinz Bracht, chairman of the union said. "If they (the railway management) don't cooperate on this basis it means that they are willing to impose the blockade again."

Bracht explained the union planned to operate trains only during the daytime hours, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The union leader said the men would work the emergency service without pay.

However, such service would involve a certain amount of cooperation with the Soviet zone signal system. Such cooperation was problematical.

Alabama Will Act To Unmask, Punish Hooded Hoodlums

Montgomery, Ala., June 22—(AP)—Alabama moved swiftly today to two fronts to unmask and punish hooded hoodlums. A congressional inquiry into the white-sheeted mob also was ordered at Washington.

Such action was prompted by a wave of floggings, cross burnings and threats in the Birmingham area recently. All involved white persons. No arrests have been made.

The state legislature moved a step nearer passage of an anti-masking bill, despite Ku Klux Klan opposition. The state senate has passed it. A House committee today gave it unanimous approval, placing it in line for adoption next Tuesday.

A "committee of 50" was in formation at Birmingham. Backed by veterans groups and civic clubs, it will seek to track down the night riders.

At Washington, a civil rights subcommittee, headed by Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.), and directed by Rep. Byrne (D-N.Y.), will investigate acts of hoodlumism in Alabama. Celler said the committee staff already is at work locating witnesses to call to Washington.

The Ku Klux Klan flatly denies it or its members have engaged in lawless night riding activities. The victims of hooded mobs disagree. In almost every instance, they describe official Klan Regalia in telling how their assailants were dressed.

JOBS TO BE SCARCE

Washington, June 22—(AP)—The Bureau of Labor Statistics said today that engineering graduates will be hard pressed to find employment in their field during the next four years.

The reason, the bureau said in another of its occupational outlook series, is that enrollment at engineering schools is so high that all graduates can not be absorbed by industry.

43 Escape Death In Crash Landing

Memphis, Tenn., June 22—(AP)—An American airlines Convair "The City of San Antonio" was cracked off a crash landing today with 43 persons aboard, including at least 34. Miraculously, no one was killed as the twin-engine craft, en route from Fort Worth, Tex., to New York, came down in a 200-yard-wide clearing, skidded across a highway with an engine afire and smashed into a tree.

"It was an act of God that we came through it safe," said Harry Rosenbaum of Roanoke, Va., a passenger.

Blame Engine Failure

Airlines officials said engine failure on the takeoff from Municipal airport was responsible for the crash. The company's chief pilot, S. P. Bittner, said: "the boys did a fine job getting her down."

Many of the injured suffered only shock or cuts and bruises. Some were slightly burned although the fire was extinguished quickly.

Onlooker's Version:

Mrs. Lucille Cook was driving down the highway when she heard the plane "popping" as it swerved low.

"It was coming right at me," she said. "I stopped my car and ran."

The plane skidded across the road about 10 feet from her vehicle. After it smashed into the tree—and

Nationalist Plane Takes Third Aim; Hits At Shanghai

Shanghai, June 22—(AP)—A nationalist warplane struck at Shanghai today in the third air attack in as many days, dropping a bomb near a British freighter damaged and grounded in yesterday's raid.

It was believed the plane was aiming at nearby oil installations on the Whangpoo river and not at the freighter Anchises.

(The foreign office in London, however, declared the Anchises was strafed. It said there were no casualties. It reported one bomb fell near the ship and a second exploded inland. The British consul in Canton protested the previous bombing.)

Shipping to Shanghai already is seriously restricted although the proclaimed nationalist blockade of Shanghai and other communist ports does not begin officially until Sunday.

Housekeeper Wins $100,000 Bequest Of Shellabarger

Sycamore, Ill., June 22—(AP)—An aged industrialist's bequest of $100,000 to a woman servant was upheld today in Circuit Court.

The will held valid in a jury's directed verdict was that of Edward F. Shellabarger who died in 1947 at the age of 94.

Shellabarger willed the fortune to Miss Rowena Potts, 44, his housekeeper.

Two children and two grand children of Shellabarger attempted to break the will, suing on grounds that undue influence had been used to persuade the old man to leave the money to Miss Potts and that he was mentally unsound when the will was drawn.

Judge William R. Dasher directed the jury to find that the charges had not been proved in trial of the suit.

Matusik's Fate Rests With Jury

Rock Island, Ill., June 22—(AP)—The fate of Joseph Matusik rested tonight in the hands of seven men and five women who must decide if he intentionally shot his wife because he thought she was unfaithful.

Matusik set up an elaborate wire recording system in his home, prosecutors said, in an effort to trap her in suspected indiscretions. Police have said they could find no evidence that the wife was untrue.

Mrs. Eva Matusik, 40, was slain by a single bullet wound in the chest last March 7. Matusik, 44, testified today the shooting was an accident.

CANADIAN ELECTION COMING UP

In Canada the Liberal government, now in power for 14 years, will go to the country in a general election on June 27. Most political experts, drawing conclusions in part from the results of three provincial elections held this month, seem to be predicting that the voters will return the Liberals again.

This month the Liberal party won overwhelming victories in the provincial elections in Nova Scotia and Newfoundland, and on June 15 British Columbia returned a coalition provincial government composed of Liberals and Conservatives. The Socialists, who had expressed confidence of winning enough seats to form the government in British Columbia, actually lost five seats. They retained only six, and the coalition now has 40.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, successor of W. L. McKenzie King, heads the Liberal party, while George Drew, former premier of Ontario, is leader of the Progressive Conservatives, the Tory party that is the official opposition. Less powerful are the socialistic Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation, in control of Saskatchewan, and the Social Credit party, concentrated in Alberta.

The greatest single unknown factor is Quebec. That province holds more than a fourth of the total votes. The stronghold of French Canadians, Quebec has voted Liberal for many years, although its own provincial government is the most conservative in Canada. This year Quebec Premier Maurice Duplessis has thrown his support to Drew.

Americans will watch the results, Republicans would interpret a conservative swing as good news for the 1950 elections here. Democrats would get similar encouragement from a Liberal victory. The trend of business between now and 1950 probably will play a larger role in the political drama of 1950, however.

Boyle's Column

On, D'Artagnan, On! —Dinner's Waiting

By Hal Boyle

New York—P.—To understand a Frenchman all you have to do is to take a ride with him in his motor car. You will never again sell the French as a nation.

After five miles you will know the spirit of France better than if you had read a hundred histories. You will never again sell the French as a nation. His motor car isn't just an instrument to get him somewhere efficiently. It's a four-wheeled adventure—a vehicle that lets him play highway chess at 60 miles an hour.

I learned all I want to learn about the dauntless character of the French the other day in a ride from Caen to Paris. My fellow passengers were two ex-jeepees from the war days—George Hicks of the National Broadcasting company and Jack Thompson, the Chicago Tribune's bearded military expert.

Shoehorned In With Driver Our vehicle was a new tiny model Renault. In a Detroit factory it might be stepped on as an oversize cockroach.

We three shoehorned in with the driver. There has been no ride like it since Paul Revere rode to spread the alarm and Sheridan galloped to Winchester, 15 miles away.

It turned out our driver wasn't just a chauffeur. He was Barney Oldfield and Sir Malcolm Campbell. He was D'Artagnan carrying a message for the Queen. He was Roland, blowing his horn at Roncesvalles. And when huge trucks bore down on us he was "Papa" Joffre, the rock of the Marne.

Down the road our little car sped at 100 kilometers an hour like a maddened waterbug. We grazed handlebars of bicycles, and they peeled off to the right. We skinned the paint off motor cars coming at us, and they sheered off to the left.

Traffic Slows To 50 M.P.H. By some miracle we reached Versailles, on the outskirts of Paris. As suddenly as it had erupted into frenzy, traffic slowed down to a snail, 50-mile an hour crawl.

It was then we discovered our driver was boiling mad. By gesture and phrase he let us know why. It seemed a truck had swerved into his path without honking a horn. And he was angry because he hadn't take a ride with him in his motor car.

A Frenchman would rather get into an accident if justice is on his side than avoid an accident and feel he had not insisted on his rights. He said with dignity: "That is all anyone needs to know about the French spirit. He'll hold on to it—even if it lands him in a ditch."

Plan Picnic For State St. Church Officials Sunday

On Thursday evening at 8 o'clock the officers, Trustees, Elders and Deacons of the State street church will gather with their families at Nichols Park for an officer's picnic. The affair will climax the monthly meetings held by each of the boards during the year and will give an opportunity to many to have closer fellowship with the family units of each of the officers.

The meal will be a potluck supper with each family bringing their own service. The Board of Deacons will provide a meat dish of ham to supplement the menu. A number of men will be engaged in playing golf during the afternoon and will come to the tables directly from the links. Others will be engaged in softball. After the supper hour informal discussion will be held relative to the work of the church for the fall season.

The minister, the Rev. Lewis N. Raymond, urges each officer to be present with his family for this event.

Home Bureau Unit At White Hall Entertains Guests

White Hall—The Night Unit of the White Hall Home Bureau met Monday evening at the First Baptist church, with a good crowd in attendance, including members, their husbands and other guests. Mrs. La Verne Coats was general chairman of the dinner which was served at 7 o'clock, with Mesdames Gwendolyn Downey, Mary Graham, Ruth Barnard and Miss Emma Thuet assisting.

It was announced that six new members had been secured in the recent membership drive. Mrs. Charles Downey presided in the absence of the regular chairman, Mrs. Gussie Prazier, and a short business meeting was held. The group sang several songs, with Mrs. Jack Harp leading and Mrs. Gladys Ritchey at the piano. Selections were presented by a quartet, composed of Dwight, Albert and Francis Connors and Francis Anderson. Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Tunison were in charge of a contest called "Will Power." The members won against the team composed of guests.

Miss Sophia Powell, home adviser, gave a lecture on "Wills Help Provide Family Security." The guest speaker, Attorney Keith L. Hubbard, gave the legal phase of several questions during the discussion which followed the lecture.

The next meeting in July will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Tunison, with Mesdames Francis Anderson and Ruth Barnard and Miss Dorothy M. Young as assistants. The program was in charge of Mrs. Gladys Ritchey.

RING SOLVES MYSTERY OF MISSING MAN

Sydney—AP—Two men at Wyndham, north-western Australia, caught a 14-foot crocodile. In its stomach they found a man's gold signet ring with the initials "J.T." Police remembered the mystery of John Thompson, a young refrigeration engineer. In July, 1948, he fell from a wharf at Wyndham. His body was never found. Police now know why.

Canada is the world's chief source of nickel and ranks first in the production of asbestos. It ranks second in gold production.

Drake-Fricke Wedding At Arenzville Church

Large Reception Later In Day At Parents' Home

Miss Norma Fricke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fricke of Arenzville, became the bride of Richard J. Drake, son of Mrs. Stanley Plowright and the late Richard Drake of Philadelphia, at the Trinity Lutheran church at Arenzville on June 19 at 6:30 p. m.

The double ring ceremony was pronounced by the Reverend W. V. Neundorff. White gladioli and carnations were used on the altar and baskets of white hydrangea were placed in the sanctuary flanked by ferns and palms. Lighted candelabra added to the effect.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Leona Fricke, cousin of the bride, played a fifteen minute recital of organ music and accompanied Mrs. Willard Kormsmeier of Beardstown, who sang, "Whither Thou Goest," and "Lord Abide With Me." Miss Vera Kay Fricke sang, "O Perfect Love," "Pomp and Circumstances," and the traditional wedding march were played for the processional and recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by Delores Drake, sister of the groom. The best man was Robert Harrison. Ushers were Leroy Fricke of Springfield and Ray Walls of Beardstown.

The bride's gown was of white marquisette, with yoke, encircled with chantilly lace. It had a fitted bodice and long sleeves, pointed over the hand. A full skirt was fashioned en train. Her finger tip veil of illusion was held with a tiara of white gladioli. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of white gladioli.

The attendant's gown of yellow marquisette was similar to the bride's, with mits to match. She carried a basket effect of yellow daisies with blue larkspur. Vera Kay wore yellow taffeta with a band of larkspur in her hair. Mrs. Willard Kormsmeier wore orchid organza with hat to match.

The groom wore a palmbeach suit and the best man a navy suit. The bride's mother wore blue and rose print sheer with white accessories, and the groom's mother chose a pink dress and hat with white accessories. Both mothers had corsages of white carnations.

150 Attend Reception
A five tiered wedding cake topped with a vase of pink rose buds and white tapers decorated the table at the reception which was held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony. One hundred and fifty guests attended.

Assisting in the dining room were Misses Regina and Ella Heidbrink, Mrs. Ed Hillebrener, Mrs. W. H. Stoerner, and Mrs. George Morrison.

The bride is a graduate of the Arenzville high school and the Gem City business college. The groom graduated from the Virginia high school and served one year in the United States Air Corps. He is now employed at the Mills Auto Parts in Jacksonville.

For her wedding trip the bride chose an aqua suit of palm beach with white accessories. The couple will reside in Arenzville.

Guests at the wedding were from Quincy, Beardstown, Philadelphia, Ashland, Springfield, Virginia, Jacksonville, and Petersburg.

Jersey County Raid Nets 3 Slot Machines

Jerseyville.—Three slot machines were confiscated in a raid on gambling devices in Jersey county Monday afternoon led by Constable Edward Elmore of Jersey township. He was accompanied by State's Attorney Alvin H. Pettit.

The machines were seized in a tavern in the Spankey vicinity operated by William Kiroach and were brought to Jerseyville and stored for final disposal under a court order.

Three complaints were filed Monday evening by Constable Elmore against Kiroach charging the latter with operating gambling devices.

Constable Elmore reported that Kiroach had advised him at the time of seizure that ownership of the machines was not known to Kiroach.

5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop.

Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing! Every day: drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity.

Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers.

Further—Carter's Pills contain no habit-forming drugs.

Break the laxative habit... with Carter's Pills... and be regular naturally.

When worry, overeating, overwork make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's Pills temporarily. And never get the laxative habit. Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore for 33c today. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

Couple From England Teach Deaf Babies

A slight, well dressed man crept slowly to the side of the tiny baby boy so as not to attract his attention. Assured of his success in the venture he took a drum and beat heavily near the baby's ear. Every one in the packed auditorium jumped, except the baby. The baby was deaf.

The man, Dr. A. W. G. Ewing from Manchester, England, and his equally noted wife, Mrs. Irene Ewing, have been at this sort of thing for many years. They conduct a center for teachers of deaf children in Manchester, which incidentally is the only such center in England. This summer they are conducting a summer course at Northwestern university and at present they are attending the national convention of the American Instructors of the Deaf in Jacksonville.

Mrs. Ewing is the type of woman who inspires confidence in little children. At their demonstration at the convention she quickly made friends with little 16 months old Jimmie Chlebon of Chicago who seemed to be more interested in a brightly colored toy than he did the hundreds of scientists and educators watching him intently.

"The purpose of our tests," Dr. Ewing began, "is to measure the degree the child can hear. There are three classifications. Some children have no hearing at all. They, however, are very rare. And then there are those who can hear loud sounds four inches away. Finally there are those who are partially deaf. I think you call them 'hard of hearing'."

Common Sense Tests
To find out to which class the baby belongs the Ewings have devised a series of common sense tests. Mrs. Ewing stated, in her charming English accent, that she hunts for testing materials which will not frighten a small child. Common toys such as brightly colored drums, whistles, and pipes form part of the paraphernalia. After the child is at ease with Mrs. Ewing, Dr. Ewing creeps near the child and either beats a drum or blows a pipe. The pipes are calibrated so that if the child responds to the noise the calibration can be checked to determine the extent of the deafness.

Dr. Ewing had little success with the drum with Jimmie. Jimmie went right on playing with a toy, picking it up and throwing it to the floor as is the wont of small children the world over. But with the pipe it was a different story. With each blast, the tike would turn his head in the direction of Dr. Ewing so as to say, "Hey you, why are you making all that noise?"

Once the Ewings make the tests, and by this it is meant a long series of tests, they can evaluate the residual capacity of a child to hear. From then on the problem of helping the child to adjust is left with the parents.

Make Parental Study
"We not only check the background of the parents, but we check the background of the grandparents as well," Mrs. Ewing said. "I don't know how many grandparents there are in the audience, but it has been our experience that grandparents baby their grandchildren to such an extent that progression in their training is handicapped."

Another factor the Ewings stressed is to get the parent or teacher to rely on the eyes and voice in training the deaf child. Particularly important, Mrs. Ewing said, is to put stimulus before the child which will interest him. She pointed out that children will quickly learn to ignore that which they find of no consequence.

Jimmie was interested in one phase of the afternoon. When the photographer snapped the bright flash bulb he forgot all about his toys, the Ewings and everything else. His face seemed to say, "You can't do this to me!"

FRANKLIN BIBLE SCHOOL OPENS JUNE 27
Franklin-Vacation Bible school classes will convene at 9 p. m. on June 27 at the Franklin Christian church. The school, sponsored in conjunction with the Methodist church, will continue through July 8 and will be in charge of Rev. Don Leach, pastor of the Christian church.

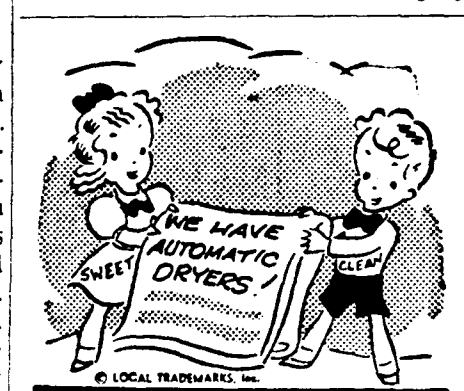

Children from 4 to 14 years of age are invited. They are requested to bring their Bibles.

Almost one-third of Canada's surface is covered by forest.

Westminster To Hold Communion

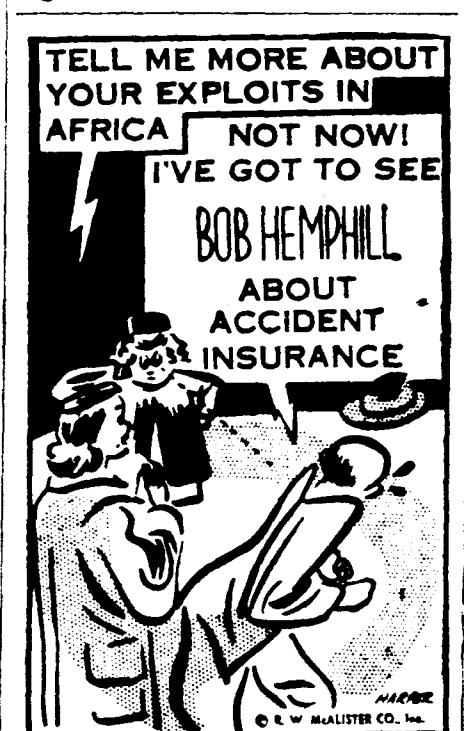

Westminster Presbyterian church will hold a service of unusual interest next Sunday, June 26, at 10:45, when the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed. This service has been moved up from the regular time in July, because the pastor, Rev. Arthur Ewert will have his vacation during the month of July. Communion tokens will be given to all participants in the service.

Preceding the observance of the sacrament, the choir, directed by Miss Ainslie Moore, will present the sacred cantata, "St. Mary Magdalene," by Vincent D'Indy. This cantata is written in three parts for women's voices, with solos which will be sung by Miss Elizabeth R. Neims, Mrs. G. R. Machlan will play.

CLIPPED ANGEL

By Clive Grierson Cornish

Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Mike McTink, a mining engineer who is telling the story, has been planning a three-month vacation after working hard in South America. Then he runs across Doug Weyman, a lawyer friend, in a cocktail lounge. Doug steers Mike into a beautiful girl, Cory Parnell, who needs a special job done. Doug rushes off, leaving the two together. Cory tells Mike she is the daughter of one of his old friends, Parboiled Parnell, and she has inherited her father's rich gold mine, the Dark Angel. But the Dark Angel hasn't been working out, in spite of her father's belief that it would last for years. Mike is patronizing, but Cory has inherited her father's temper. Cory teases a drink in Mike's face and the mining engineer speaks her, shoves her down in her chair as she says "I hate you!" Mike suggests they declare an armistice and invites her out to dine with him.

SHE was a persistent creature. When we reached the coffee-and-cigar stage she said, "I didn't say No. 5 vein was lost. I want to find out why it's giving only five-dollar ore instead of fifteen-dollar ore."

"Ask me another riddle," I said. "I've heard that one before."

"Yes, I know, it sounds like an old story, but Dad told me the Dark Angel was good for another 20 years, and he knew what he was talking about."

"Your dad knew his stuff," I admitted, "but better men than he have guessed wrong."

"He didn't guess—he knew."

"Cory," I said deliberately, "do you like to dance?"

She nodded. "Then, let's."

AFTERWARDS we talked about everything under the sun except mining, and that was the way I wanted it. We discussed the pursuit of happiness and discovered we both had the same ideas about direction, but neither of us was quite sure about the road. I was willing to start hunting for it right then, but it was 2 o'clock and the kid looked all in.

In the taxi I put my arm around her and kissed her, and she kissed me back. After a moment she pushed me away and moved over to the far side of the seat.

"It's been nice meeting you, Mike," she said.

"This is only the beginning. I've got three whole months to kill. Tomorrow—"

"I'm driving back to the mine."

I slid my arm along the back of the seat, but she wriggled free.

"No, Mike."

I thought of the loafing I had planned to do in the next three months, the lovely loafing in Palm Springs, the lazing around in the desert country and other places where a man and his money are warmly welcomed. It would have been nice to have seen Palm Springs. I had always intended to go there.

"All right," I said. "You win. You, and No. 5 vein."

You understand, I still intended to go to Palm Springs. In fact I thought of the place as an important waystation on the afore-said road to happiness. But at the moment it looked as if it were essential to detour through the Dark Angel mine first.

In the taxi I put my arm around her and kissed her and she kissed me back.

I DIDN'T have a car and couldn't get one, so we were going to use Cory's and she was to pick me up at 11. I put in a busy two hours before that.

Effie Lawson, my office staff, gave me a reproachful look when I broke the news. She pointed to a four-inch stack of correspondence on my desk. "You said you'd put in two days clearing it up."

"That was yesterday," I said. "Hold the fort for a little while longer, there's a good girl."

"Mr. Douglas Weyman phoned," she said. "He wants to see you."

"Tell him I'm on my way over, will you, Effie?"

Doug greeted me with a grin. "Well, how did you get on?"

"Fine, after we understood each other. Obviously she needs a man around the place, though she'd hate to admit it."

Doug laughed. "Plenty of guys have been willing to take on the job. She's supposed to be worth millions, three or four of 'em, anyway."

"Then why's she worrying about the Dark Angel?"

DOUG stopped grinning. "There's something there I don't quite get, Mike. I asked her that—only in a more tactful way, of course—and she looked at me. . . . Well, anyway, we didn't pursue the subject." He started to grin again. "Too bad you're going on holiday for three months—but it's all right, I understand perfectly, Mike." At 37 a man can't be too careful. It's not as if—

"I've decided I lost altitude too quickly while coming down from the Andes," I said. "so I'm driving up to the mine with her in an hour from now."

"Cafe society," chuckled Doug. "Spoiled as the dickens!"

"Cut it out, you lug," I said. "I didn't come here to be kidded. I want some information. Where do you fit into the picture? Why didn't she approach my office direct?"

"She was in here on legal business and she just happened to ask if I knew you. That's all."

"What legal business?"

"Well, confound it, Mike, a client is a client!"

"All right, all right—except that when I knew Parboiled Parnell he looked on all lawyers as varmints."

"Nobody can live without lawyers," said Doug with satisfaction. "You're not much help," I said. Then a thought struck me. "Anybody ever try to buy the Dark Angel?"

Doug gave me a searching glance. "I just told you, Mike, a client is a client."

"Okay, I'll ask her myself. Well, I've got to get along. Give my love to Cory."

SWEET AND SOUR—Jean Cesar starts her day in San Juan, Puerto Rico, by picking a grapefruit for breakfast and orchids for evening—both from the same tree. The special tree was developed by Dr. Louis Fernandez. Not a parasite, the orchid draws its moisture from the surface of the tree, not from the tree itself.

498 Swim Daily At Nichols Park Pool

A total of 6,874 swimmers had taken dips in the Nichols park pool as the summer activity swung into its 18th day, for an average of 498 daily, Paul Rust, manager of the pool, reported Wednesday.

Daily attendance has steadily increased since the pool was opened for the summer season last June 2. That day, which was reserved for high school students as a supplement to their annual picnic, saw 139 youngsters taking advantage of accommodations. Since then the attendance record has jumped to 1067 water fans who enjoyed a swim last Sunday.

The fickle weather that has been cold, drizzling rains to Jacksonville forestalled activities at Nichols park only once. Lowest attendance was realized on the sixth day that the pool was open when only 96 swimmers took their water constitutional.

The daily average of 498 swimmers does not include the week day Red Cross swimming classes which convene at 10:15 a.m. Monday through Friday. Wednesday saw a pace-setting number of 140 youngsters from 9 years old, up, taking instructions from the Red Cross instructors. Glenn Williams, who also serves as a lifeguard, is supervising the swimming school. Instructors Mrs. Blanche Reuck, Misses Mary and Brenda Standley, Misses Ann Naege, Mrs. Elizabeth Lontenbaugh, Mrs. Vivian Casler, Miss Mary Marsh and Miss Nancy Munk are all certified Red Cross instructors.

Public Schools Get Face Lifting In Summer Season

Jacksonville high and junior high schools are getting the usual summer repairs. Uppermost on the list is a new floor for the David Prince gymnasium.

School officials stated that the old floor has been in bad shape for a number of years and the new floor corrects all the defects. A hard maple surface is supported by a sturdy sub-floor and a ventilating system keeps air circulating under the floor at all times. This is to keep the temperature of the wood constant so as to prevent expansion and contraction.

Elsewhere in the buildings woodwork is receiving a new coat of varnish.

The final major repair is a refurbishment of the girls shower room. The room will be inlaid with tile and will have new showers of the latest design installed.

Other improvements throughout the local school system will be announced at a later time.

D. R. Blodgett, city superintendent of schools, is teaching at the University of Oklahoma for the summer months.

COTTAGE SETS, new and beautiful, a DOLLAR DAY special Thurs.-Fri. at only 1.00 at GRANT'S.

HIT PERFORMANCE—Actress Lana Morris takes careful aim at the rifle-range booth, one of the sideshows at the Theatrical Garden Party in London. The annual party, a fashion highlight of the theatrical year, was held for the benefit of British stage and film charities.

Contests Will Be Held Friday at Girl Scout Camp

The Girl Scouts who have been attending Day Camp at Nichols Park, last week and this, have chosen "The Forty-Niners" as their Camp theme, and will climax their activities Friday afternoon with a series of contests. Each Unit at Camp will enter its best archers, fire builders, rope makers, knot tyers, square dancers, and badminton players into the activities, which will follow in a progressing program.

Ribbons for 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th place winners will be awarded in each contest.

The Day Campers have made their Unit Arm Bands with natural dyes, using berries, onion skin, bees, and vegetable greens, to achieve their designated colors.

The program Friday afternoon will close with a color ceremony at the flag pole.

The older Girl Scout— in units 3 and 4 will go on an overnight camping trip next Wednesday as part of their Day Camp program.

The Unit Leaders for the Girl Scout Forty-Niners Day Camp are: Mrs. Elmer Lukeman, Miss Virginia Lane, Mrs. Paul Schildman, Mrs. Keith Godfrey, Mrs. Ed Moy, Mrs. Wm. McCormick, Mrs. Earl Jones, Mrs. Don Caldwell.

Senior Scouts who are assisting are Barb Black, Doris Jean Godfrey, Merna Dickerson.

Swimming instructors for Day Camp are: Miss Mary Jane Norris, Miss Mary Catherine Standley, Miss Brenda Standley, Miss Nancy Munk, Mrs. Wm. Casler, Mrs. Betty Longabaugh.

Director of the Day Camp is Miss Catherine M. Schurz, and assistant director is Miss Dorothy Goebel.

Girl Scout Day Camp is provided for by the Jacksonville Girl Scout Council. Mrs. Clarence Egeberger is chairman of the Day Camp committee.

Want To Be A Good Citizen?—Here's How

By Dorothy Mentel

Every boy or girl born in the United States and every man or woman born here or naturalized here is a citizen of this country. Citizenship is a possession which of these qualities depend a great people have worked hard for and deal upon our physical, mental and waited long to secure and, considering ourselves good citizens, we should think of it as a priceless gift. "Am I a good citizen of my country?" This is a question that is asked by someone almost every day. As a citizen, you and I have many duties. We must possess certain qualities that will help us get the most out of life. Perhaps the most important of these qualities is determination or will-to-do. If the first citizens of the United States had not possessed this quality, our country would not be what it is today. We must also have a desire to render real service to others. This includes aid to the sick, the poor, the aged, and all those confined to immigrants who want to become citizens.

Citizenship is an important word because it shows that we are all a part of our government, a democracy. We must know our country and its laws and what our country expects of us. Let us be able to discuss current public issues intelligently. We must love and honor our country. This includes singing our National Anthem, studying the Constitution and saluting the flag.

We, as citizens of the 1949 session of the Illini Girls State, have as much of an opportunity to prove our loyalty as older people. Our communities are spending money to send us here to learn about our government and our duties as citizens. Let's take advantage of this opportunity and show our folks back home that we really appreciate their efforts by making the most of our week here in Jacksonville.

Life's Joys Are Friends, Family And Good Living

The dear, familiar things? I guess everything around me is dear and familiar, for even my babyhood was spent on a farm near Cambridge.

The dearest of all to me are my home and family. I'm very lucky to have a real home and a real family. It isn't just the family that means so much to me but the love and understanding I receive from them. The problems I face in life are often overpowering until I've talked them over with my mother. Mothers are very wise people when one learns to know them.

The family rivalry, teasing, and love of my young brother are likewise dear to me. Home, during his absence, becomes a house with an unfamiliar, depressing silence.

Then there is my gay, fun-loving father. I can always tell when something is bothering him because he's "different." He doesn't tease me about everything I do and say, and I miss the loving pat I usually receive when I walk past.

Next to my family come my friends. Life must be empty and lonely without friends, and I never want to experience it. No matter what happens we stick together. We laugh together and cry together. We're serious together and angry together.

Next to my friends comes my community. As I look back over the years and see how we have progressed, I feel proud to know I am a part of that progress. It has taken a great deal of labor, disappointment, and good straight thinking.

Last, there is my school and all that is connected with it. I love our team, its enthusiasm and feeling of fair play.

Why are these things dear and familiar to me? They are my life.

Debate Merits of Small School Over Those of Large

By Shirley Burnett

I believe the small school definitely offers more advantages for a student to become a good citizen than does the large one. When I started to high school, I made my choice between the two and chose the small.

In the small school one learns to know everybody extremely well whereas in the large school many of the students are nearly strangers. In fact the small school is more like a big family than an institution of learning.

Also the students become much better acquainted and more interested in the problems of the small school. Because of this, they are able to help correct many problems which arise in their lives and school and not let them rest entirely on the officials of the school.

The student also becomes better acquainted with the teachers in a small school. In large schools a student is very lucky if he has the same teacher for more than one semester. In the small institution a student usually has the same teachers for all four years. There is no doubt that a teacher can better help a pupil if he knows with whom he is working. In small schools the faculty not only knows the pupils, but their backgrounds and parents as well. All these factors determine how much is to be expected of a student and how to help him most.

The argument often presented by students of a large school is that there is but a limited choice of subjects in the small school. Of course this is true; but the average student takes only four academic subjects a year. Too many students specialize in their high school courses when they should be learning fundamentals. Take, for instance, a boy who is interested in them!

aeronautics. He takes as many courses as he can, meanwhile dreaming of a wonderful job in the future. After graduation when he applies for his dream, he is disappointed by a rejection for an eye defect. Upon entering college to study in another field, he discovers that when he sacrificed fundamental subjects for his aeronautics, he was not getting the preparation for college he should have had. Consequently his college education becomes much more complicated and hard to get.

A good citizen needs a well-rounded education, one which assists him in helping himself and others. This is the type of education given by the small school.

Reporters Wanted For Girl's Stater Daily Newspaper

Response to the "feeler" card sent to prospective Girls Staters was not so fruitful as in some previous years. We know there are many of you who like having your writing in print. Send in contributions from your city or county. There will be a box placed just inside the Girls Stater office in the east lower level corridor of Main building where you may leave such bits of gossip as you have time to pen.

Any girl who has talent for cartooning, sketching or caricaturing may give vent to her impulses by contributing her work for the Illini Girls State Scrapbook of 1949.

We want our publication to be the most successful this year, and that means the combined effort of every 1949 Girls State citizen must be enlisted.

If you have comments, criticism or suggestions for improvements in our paper, please leave them in the newspaper office. We do invite stance, a boy who is interested in them!

Before Drinking, Think—About You And the Other Guy

By Dorothy Craggs

The whirling stops. You roll over and beside you a headline hits you in the face.

THREE KILLED IN DRUNKEN DRIVING ACCIDENT

Then the memories swarm back at you, but you hadn't drunk much. It was the car ahead you couldn't tell how far ahead it was.

Then came the crash! These scenes are pitiful. Why do they happen?

It doesn't take much courage to drink—a lark for some, a party for others, or maybe someone teases you about being a "little girl that can't live without her mommy."

But, oh! the heartbreaks for some! A drink deadens senses; proportions, depth, distance become blurred, and a car careens over a cliff or into a ditch.

Many girls, when under the influence of drink, commit moral sins that would be unthought of at any other time.

Maybe the boy involved won't marry her, but at any rate the parents have been hurt and the girl's life is ruined.

Even if you don't think about yourself, what about the other fellow? Have you the right to risk his life?

A resolution is easy to make but hard to keep, but if minds are set in a direction one can win through—or will you become a jelly fish and end up—where?

'47 Girls' Stater Waits on Tables, Hopes to Be Model

By Nancy Weir

Betty is a waitress, a very trite statement except for the fact that Betty is this case, is a former Girls Stater from Hammond. Betty Silver is the full name and she is, for the summer, working as a waitress-cook in the food section of the Standard station on the Route 36 edge of Hammond. Betty's plans for this fall are incomplete but she hopes to enter a modeling school in Chicago.

Last fall when the Hammond high schoolers entered school again they came to Atwood because of the consolidation of the two schools and Betty waded right in and came up with the honor of being our Homecoming Queen. She also wrote for the paper, sang also in the girls chorus, searched longingly for a heart as the tin woodman in the drama class production of the "Wizard of Oz" and held the feminine lead as Nancy Howe in the senior class play "The Eyes of Tiaola."

Shaping up to a neat 123 pounds on five feet five inches she shouldn't find modeling school too hard. Her coloring is unusual; very blond hair with brown eyes.

Her dream song is "Again," basketball is her favorite sport and the St. Louis Cards her pet team. Jeanne Crain and Burt Lancaster rate high honors as Betty's pick of the movie stars. When asked what she disliked she emphatically said "mowing yard!" Asked about her pet peeve she gave the same tight-lipped reply, "mowing yard!"

Betty is another Girls Stater who would like to do a return performance. She totaled up the whole program as being "just swell."

WANT AD

"Good night! I had a lovely time." Isn't he lively and isn't he handsome? He'll come this week to take me dancing. He didn't come.

Wasn't he wonderful and wasn't he gay? He'll surely write me a letter today. He didn't write.

He was so divine and dark and tall. Surely tomorrow I'll hear his call. He didn't call.

His eyes had something that made my heart sing. Why, oh why won't he give me a ring? He didn't ring.

Someone's at the door—it's the breadman. Someone's got a letter—it's for brother.

Someone's calling—they want Dad. Telephone's ringing—IT'S HIM! "Is your sister there?"

WANTED—a new man. —Julia Andrew

Four Freedoms, Our Priceless Heritage

By Nancy Johnson

From our history books we have learned that our forefathers fought for liberty, something that we now consider as a sort of national heirloom. We are not too aware of just what that liberty includes.

Oh, yes, we have heard of the Four Freedoms and the Bill of Rights, but do we know what they are, and treasure them as we should? Freedom is more than a word.

The four priceless freedoms are: freedom of expression, freedom of religion, freedom from want, and freedom from fear. These are the pillars that hold America up as the great democracy it is.

In congress, July 4, 1776, a freshly penned manuscript was read, "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness..."

Thus, a group of stout-hearted colonists dared to tell the world what they believed, and dared to fight through the misery and the bitter hardships of war until they won that victory... and their independence.

Four score and seven years later the new nation fought an internal battle, and again freedom conquered. For as they said that day in 76, "all men are created equal."

As we faced another war, President Franklin Roosevelt told Congress that the United States looked forward "to a world founded upon four essential freedoms." America plunged into the war and again came out victorious — to protect these ideals.

This is our priceless heritage.

Character Built At Girl's State

Even in this modern era of technological achievement, the successful building of human lives is still the most important function of a democratic society.

Since there are no set patterns to follow, each life is unique and always under construction. By living completely in the many activities which we share at Illini Girls State under the experienced supervision of our Counselors, we are building for today and for tomorrow.

Find New Friends At Girl's State On First Day

by Doris Davies

From the moment I boarded the train, during the whole trip, all the time we finally arrived, all the time I had expected, I had even anticipated the slight delay, before seeing the nurse and before we could begin to settle our belongings. In fact as did many of the other girls, I put this time to good use by greeting old friends and making new ones.

Before I or any of the others realized the hours had passed and it was time for dinner. Guess who I sat next to! A girl from Genoa, one from Canton and still another from Gardner. It was like a lesson in the geography of Illinois. Towns from all over the state. Names and places I had never heard of, but still many were familiar.

It's now about three hours since dinner and it seems nearer three minutes. As I sit here writing this, just as many others are doing, it seems we are all held together by one bond. Each of us has lived this day and it is now finished. We can live it again not even in memory but we can hold it and keep it forever. There. The memory of each precious minute of this day, June 21, 1949. So let's not say good-bye to it but a Good-bye first day. Hello to the memory of Illinois Girls State.

Mrs. Miller Weir, 90, Passes Away; Funeral Friday

Mrs. Fannie Bancroft Weir, widow of the late Miller Weir of this city, died Tuesday morning, June 21, at the home of her grandson, A. Devere Broekhouse, in Des Plaines, Ill. She was 90 years of age, and death followed several months of failing health.

Mrs. Weir's husband was dean of national bank examiners for a number of years before his death. She was born in 1858, the daughter of Elizabeth Root and Horace Bancroft, and resided in Jacksonville all of her life with the exception of the last few years. Mrs. Weir was a member of a pioneer family, her father having come to Jacksonville from Hartford, Conn., in 1845, and was one of the city's earliest merchants.

Graduates From College
Mrs. Weir was graduated from the Jacksonville High school and later from the Atheneum and Conservatory of Music. She was prominently identified with the literary, musical and social life of Jacksonville, having been a charter member of the Woman's club and served as its president during World War I when the membership was more than 500. She was president emerita of the club at the time of her death.

The decedent was a charter member of Rev. James Caldwell's church, D.A.R., having served as its third regent. She was also a charter member of Wednesday Class, serving as treasurer for many years, resigning in 1941. She was made a member emerita in 1948.

Active In Club Work
She served as chairman of the first Morgan County Republican Women's organization, when women first voted. Mrs. Weir was one of the first directors of the Morgan County Red Cross, a member of the historical society and League of Women Voters. She was tireless in her efforts to promote the welfare of these civic groups. Her executive ability and graciousness won many friends and her home, the home of four generations, was the scene of brilliant social gatherings. Her personality was one of devotion to family and friends.

Mrs. Weir was a former member of the Congregational church where she was active in many departments. Later she became a member of the State Street Presbyterian church.

In 1882 Fannie C. Bancroft was united in marriage with Miller Weir of Greenville, Ky., who preceded her in death. Mr. Weir was dean of national bank examiners, and was prominent in civic affairs.

Survived By Daughter
Mrs. Weir is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Anita W. Broekhouse, a grandson, A. Devere Broekhouse; his wife, Georgia S. Broekhouse, and three great grandchildren, John Devere, James Edward and Douglas Bruce Broekhouse, all of Des Plaines, Ill. One granddaughter, Ursula Weir Broekhouse, preceded her in death.

She also is survived by one brother, H. H. Bancroft of Jacksonville; his wife, Abigail K. Bancroft; two nieces, Mrs. Mary Burgess of Shelbyville, Ind., and Miss Louise Bancroft of Springfield; a nephew, Richard Bancroft, and one grandnephew, Gregory B. Bancroft of Kokomo, Ind. A number of other relatives reside in Jacksonville and vicinity.

The remains will be brought to the Reynolds Mortuary here Wednesday evening, where services will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. W. C. Meeker officiating. Interment will be made in Diamond Grove cemetery.

Newcastle Disease Reaches New High Among Farm Flocks

Urbana—Nearly as many outbreaks of Newcastle disease were found in Illinois chicken flocks during the first five months of 1949 as during the entire year of 1948.

A University of Illinois veterinarian, Dr. J. O. Alberts, reports that the College of Veterinary Medicine diagnosed 98 outbreaks of Newcastle disease from January until the end of May. Last year 106 outbreaks were found.

Nearly half of the outbreaks this year have been in chicks less than five weeks old.

Only a few laying hens have died from Newcastle, but deaths have increased over previous years. And egg production has suffered severely. One poultryman reported a drop in production from 260 to 10 eggs a day within three days.

A few Illinois turkey flocks have also had Newcastle disease. Two such outbreaks were diagnosed by the veterinary college during May.

Jury Frees Cab Driver in Murder Of Letter Carrier

Decatur, Ill., June 22.—(P)—A cab driver is free of a murder charge today following a court's rejection of a written statement he claimed was obtained under duress.

Counsel for Norman Dale Clark, 32, argued that the statement should be rejected. It said Clark told of shooting Floyd Thompson, about 50, a Decatur letter carrier and holdup victim. The defense said the statement was obtained by coercion on the part of police and the state's attorney's office.

After hearing defense and state arguments in the absence of a jury, Circuit Judge Martin E. Morthland ruled yesterday that the statement could not be introduced before the jury. The judge followed a recent Illinois supreme court ruling on the admissibility of confessions in his decision.

The defense then asked for and received a verdict of acquittal.

Younger Vets Will Get Biggest Share Of GI Dividends

Washington, June 22.—(P)—The biggest checks in the forthcoming GI insurance dividend payment, probably will go to younger veterans, the Veterans Administration said today.

Veterans who converted their policies into any of the six types of permanent insurance also are likely to harvest proportionately larger dividends than their comrades who retained "term" insurance.

Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray, Jr., has ordered payment during the first six months of 1950 of a special $2,800,000,000 dividend on 20,000,000 national service life insurance policies held by 16,500,000 World War II veterans.

A VA spokesman said younger veterans will collect the larger dividends because they have had a comparatively low mortality rate.

Owners of converted policies probably will collect more because of the higher premiums they have paid, although a part of the increased premium builds up as savings.

The spokesman said the veterans agency still is working on the dividend pay scale, and has not yet indicated whether it will release details of the scale when it is complete.

Winchester Group Hears Appeal For New 'Health' Law

Winchester—Winchester Group No. 24, of the Men's Research Forum were entertained at the country home of Dr. and Mrs. J. Y. Burbank Monday evening. After a 6:30 dinner, the group listened to a paper presented by Paul Vannier, editor of the Bluffs Times, on the subject of "Health, Wealth and Government."

He stated that although we citizens of the U. S. are credited with being the wealthiest people on the globe and having the best government, we fail to do much is a planned corrective manner about our health. Under our present medical setup, he said, the rich are able to get the best of care, the poor are taken care of by city, county, and state, but there isn't much care for the broad middle class. He discussed the President's proposed health insurance plan and the different group insurance plans that are being carried on voluntarily.

His paper was a strong plea for a health program that would make the best of medical science available to everyone and thus become a preventive as well as a corrective plan in the care of the nation's health.

Governors Likely To OK Arms Aid For W. Europe

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 22.—(P)—The nation's governors appeared ready today to give indirect approval of the administration's $1-130,000,000 program to arm western Europe against the threat of Communism.

At the same time, the 41st annual conference of state executives seemed likely to reject a proposal to cut federal grants-in-aid 20 percent in exchange for the government's getting out of certain tax fields.

The conference, ending here today, will pick a new chairman to succeed Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., of Maryland, Democrat, who will yield the gavel to a western Republican.

Indications were that Kansas' Gov. Frank Carlson might be the choice of the new executive committee which picks its own chairman.

The governors were scheduled to go on record today on several resolutions in a procedure rivaling that of the United Nations. In that case, one major security council member could veto any proposal. Here any single governor could stop adoption of a resolution if he chose to vote against it.

67 Drive-In Offers New Thrill For Many

A new theatre is opening tomorrow night!! Residents of Jacksonville and nearby communities will for the first time in this area have the opportunity to visit a Drive-In Theatre—an opportunity to see motion pictures under the stars.

Tomorrow evening (Friday, June 24) at dusk, The 67 Drive-In, located just two miles south of Jacksonville on route 67 will open for the first time.

Equipped to handle more than 500 cars, the new theatre will offer a thrill inexperienced by most of the people of this community.

Attending the theatre is as simple as driving itself—You drive to the ticket window where a seller will come to your car, receive the fare, make change, and direct you to an usher who, by the aid of flashlights and special spotlights, will direct you to your parking place where you may sit in the comfort of your own car and pleasantly view the movie. You have no reason to think there will be driving difficulties in the theatre for the wide parking ramps and driving lanes between rows of cars permit safe movement about inside the theatre grounds.

Drive Yourself

After you have paid your fare the usher will direct you to a lane where there will be another usher who in turn will direct you to your parking place. Each parking place is a ramp (an individual mound built up about a foot for each car) on which you drive your front wheels up until the front of your car is high enough so that you may sit back in the seat and have good, full view of the large screen ahead. For each ramp there is an individual speaker system which you attach to the door of your car (either inside or outside) and throughout the movie you alone have full control of the volume of sound of the movie.

There is almost five feet space between yours and the car sitting next to you, so talking, munching of popcorn, or crying babies in the next car cannot bother you. The management will control the grounds at all times to prevent any continuous disturbances so you are assured that you will enjoy seeing a movie at the Drive-In.

Lights Out

Another thing that will not cause any inconvenience to you is the fact that cars coming into the theatre after the show has begun travel with their lights out (safely directed, however) and in no way cause any disturbance to the persons waiting the show already.

And another thing—cars in front of you cannot block your view of the screen for you drive your own car onto the ramp high enough that you can see right over the tops of the cars in front without fear that during any part of the movie they will "stand in front of you" or "not take off their hats." It's these everyday complaints of theatres that you will not see nor hear at the Drive-In theatre. Surely a new and pleasant experience will be yours when you visit the new Drive-In and witness this unique method of presenting motion pictures. We're sure you will want to come back often.

Nebraska is the third largest cattle-producing state.

Drive-In Theater Solves Downtown Parking Problem

There's no parking problem at the Drive-In. And that's for sure, for your car is your seat during the show. You don't have to drive for blocks and blocks looking for a place to park your car to go to the show when you come to the drive-in and once your car is parked you don't have to walk a step. It's just that easy to see a movie these days. You drive up to a parking space on the ramp at the Drive-In and you are ready to see the movie. No waiting in lines and no crowded, congested places.

And there's no need to worry about fenders or bumpers getting banged up at the Drive-In either, for the wide driveways with only one-way traffic allow plenty of room for the traffic to pass along easily and safely inside the theatre grounds. Coming early or late to the Drive-In makes no difference for every one of the 500 parking places at the theatre is located to permit a clear view of the giant screen without any distortion to the eyes. And it makes no difference whether you sit up close or in the last row, you still can see the screen and pictures clearly. And of course you'll hear the sound plainly wherever you sit for you have control of the volume right at your fingertips.

Truly a solution to modern parking problems is a prime advantage of attending the 67 Drive-In Theatre.

Brunk Excavators Did Ground Work For New Theater

The first contractor to begin work and the first to complete his portion of the job in building the new Drive-In theatre was A. W. Brunk, excavator. On April 10 the Brunk crew began the dirt-moving operation on the 10-acre tract located about a mile south of Vandalia Road on Route 67.

Approximately 5,000 cubic yards of dirt were moved by the Brunk excavators in building the ramps and driveways for the new theatre.

Most important in the excavating job was the grading of the ramps and the finishing processes making the ramps ready for their coating of asphalt. The ten ramps and driveways give the onlooker an impression of a giant piece corduroy laid over the ground. Its uniformity of construction will prove to you the fine work done by the excavation crew. The idea of the corduroy design is that patrons drive their cars in the smooth driveways in the bottom part of this corduroy and then pull out of the drives up on the ramps which are the top parts of the corduroy patch. Cars never travel up and down on the corduroy but in the same direction with it, all driveways being smooth.

Special attention was also given by the excavators to construct the grounds with a natural drainage system by which water drains off instantly in case of rain.

Mr. Brunk relates that excavation work was completed on June 4, but that in the meantime other contractors had begun work on the other construction to keep things rolling on a smooth, planned production method.

Rain Doesn't Stop The Drive-In Show

Someone asked what they did if it rained at the Drive-In or if it was raining all evening even before show time. And there's no problem to that for at the Drive-In there will be a movie every night regardless of the weather.

In fact in cities where there are Drive-In theatres now it has been found that many times more people attend the Drive-Ins on rainy nights up for the evening by seeing the than on clear nights. With baseball games and other sports events rained out for the evening many people can then just drive out to the drive-in and enjoy a good movie. No fear of getting wet—you never leave your car and you don't need to have a window rolled down to hear for you can put your individual speaker right in the car with you, roll the windows up and sit back and enjoy yourself and the movie. And you can see good, too, for the screen is so large as you view it in front of you that the raindrops on the windshield cannot harm your view of the picture at any distance you may be away from the screen within the theatre grounds. You don't have to run your windshield wipers to see well when it's raining at the Drive-In so you won't take the chance of heating up your motor or setting carbon monoxide fumes in the car from running the motor.

At the Drive-In in Peoria the other night several cars of ballplayers drove into the theatre while it was raining and said since their ball game was rained out they just made up for the evening by seeing the show.

It's certainly a pleasure to attend the Drive-In theatre when it's raining, for not only do you avoid the parking troubles but you don't have to leave your car to see the movie after you have parked your car.

CORPORATION PRESIDENT

HOWARD BUSEY

Howard Busey, president of the Central Amusement Corporation, Racine Amusement company when was born and raised in Jacksonville. He purchased the Rialto, Majestic, Scott and Grand theatres.

His experience in the theatre business has been practically life-long, his career beginning when he began work at the Rialto Theatre on East State street at the age of 14, with which organization he was connected for 18 years until December, 1948 when he entered the local corporation.

Luttrell at the old Majestic Theatre. For the past eight years he has been with the Fox theatres in Wichita, Kansas. Busey is married and has a son, the present Kresge Dime Store. He age three.

No Traffic Jams After the Show

When the show is over spotlights are turned onto the parking grounds and cars then may pull out into the driveway in front of them to leave. All traffic in the driveways moves in one direction and an usher guides the moving traffic out of the theatre in an orderly manner.

Because of its unique plan of traffic control and movement, and its well designed exits, all cars in the theatre can be out of the theatre, and homeward bound within five to ten minutes after the show is over. There are no traffic tie-ups and you'll find that the traffic will move smoothly, safely, and quickly.

Just one word of advice to the patrons is to remind them not to forget to remove the speaker box from inside their car and hang it back on the post outside their car door on the driver's side before starting to drive from their parking place.

Julia Misbehaves To Show Sunday! Stars Greer Garson

Greer Garson, the screen's too dramatic actress, now shows herself a brilliant comedienne as well in the hilarious "Julia Misbehaves," which will play at the new 67-Drive-In Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, June 26, 27, and 28. Starting with her is Walter Pidgeon who has been her partner in many of her earlier hits.

Based upon the widely-read novel, "The Nutmeg Tree," by Margery Sharp, this saga of a lusty London showgirl who captivates every man's heart except her husband's, gives Miss Garson the laugh role of her career as the fun-loving Julia Packard, down to her last pawn ticket but too proud to accept help from Bill, the husband from whom she is separated, or Susan, the daughter she has not seen in fourteen years.

It is an invitation to Susan's wedding which brings the recalcitrant Julia back into the fold of the stuffy country family from which she had been banished, and she gives them plenty of cause to regret this mistaken gesture. First of all, she becomes involved with a boisterous troupe of acrobats (wait until you hear Miss Garson sing a music hall ditty while hanging upside down from a trapeze!), then she swindles an over-ambitious friend of the family in a mirthful gambling casino episode, next she persuades Susan to cancel her marriage plans to a dull fiance and to elope instead with the man of her heart—and finally, she tops it all by winning back husband Bill through a hilarious series of adventures involving a picknick bear, a storm-isolated cabin, and a dunking in the frigid waters of a lake!

Teaming with Miss Garson and Pidgeon to complete the hit are Peter Lawford, lovely Elizabeth Taylor, Cesar Romero, Mary Boland, Nigel Bruce, and many others.

"Julia Misbehaves" is a picture which will have you roaring with laughter from start to finish.

You'll Hear Music Before the Show

Music is another presentation to the patrons of the Drive-In theatre. Over the same sound system on which you hear the sound of the movie, music is presented early in the evening before the show starts for those people who come to the theatre before show starting time at dusk.

Between each feature there is a short pause while all the spotlights are turned on the parking lot so that people having seen the movie thus far may leave in lighted safety. This pause while cars are leaving lasts for not much longer than five minutes and for those people who remain to see the next feature, special music is again provided. As soon as the cars leaving have gone, the lights are once again dimmed, music is faded away, and the next feature begins.

Come As You Are Is Fashion Code For the Drive-In

Going to the Drive-In theatre is no formal affair—you just go as you are. No, there's no need to dress up to go to the show at the Drive-In for you sit right in the privacy of your own car.

And even if you see friends out there, no doubt but what they are dressed not much better than you are. You see, at the Drive-In you don't try to dress up better than the Jones's, for comfort is the main thing you'll enjoy there besides a good movie.

There's no shame or loss of pride for a woman to wear shorts, slacks or jeans to the Drive-In and the Mister can go out there in his work clothes if he wishes. And you can give the children their baths when you get home after the show if you like.

Of course you won't feel out of place if you do dress up nice, but regardless of how you look you're always welcome. The Drive-In is here for everyone any time you care to visit—just as you are.

Perfect Vision From Every Seat At the Drive-In

Everyone has a good seat at the Drive-In. There is a good view from all angles of the parking lot and everyone can see the picture well.

People with a sedan who bring their family or friends need not worry about the persons in the back seat for they can see as well as those sitting in front, regardless of where the car may be parked on the grounds.

The people in the front seat have no worry of looking around someone's head or a lady's hat to see the movie either, for there is a clear view from their seat right up to the screen completely unobstructed. As for the people in the back seat—they can do a little bargaining with the occupants of the front seat to keep them from getting in their view, but you don't have to bargain with anyone else, for you see right over the tops of the cars in front of you.

Spectacular Array Of Neon Lights At New Drive-In

All neon lighting for the new Drive-In theatre was designed, constructed, and installed by the Her-rin sign company. On the east side of the large 62-foot structure, the back side of which is the screen, are the letters "67 Drive In Theatre" four foot high with a double outline of neon. The neon also extends across the 40 foot top of the structure and outlines the side wings. In the center of the east side of

Attractive Board
A giant marquee six feet high and 30 feet wide is built across the front side of the structure below the star cluster. The marquee, which was entirely created by Herrin in their shops here in Jacksonville, is built to show interchangeable red two-tone plastic letters which will tell of the current attractions. The attraction board is encircled by more than 600 border chasing lights giving the effect of light in motion.

The ticket office is lighted by 140 feet of circulating neon tubing which forms a fluorescent spiral on the underneath side of the roof. Four circles of neon are on the roof top, all of which is visible for a long distance.

Nearly 700 feet of neon tubing went into the construction of the entire lighting system for the theatre. 15 transformers are used to control the voltage of the electrical mantle three motor flashers are used to operate the giant star.

The lighting for the new Drive-In is the most spectacular display in this area.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla.—(P)—The fire made a fast trip to the firemen. A road crew knew just what to do when a muffled explosion in an asphalt distributor set the apparatus afire. They waved the driver of the towing truck on his way. The driver towed the blazing machine toward the nearest fire station. Fire engines cameout to meet it, and the fire was soon under control. Other motorists, of course, were astonished to see the flaming, smoking asphalt vehicle speed by. They gave it the right of way.

Warner Bros. Hit Coming Soon to New 67 Drive-In

Warner Bros. star-studded, tuneful and joyous technicolor musical, "The Time, The Place And The Girl," will show soon at the new 67 Drive-In theatre. The film stars the popular screen combination of Dennis Morgan and Jack Carson, and, for plenty of romantic interest, Martha Vickers and Janis Paige.

The film spins an entertaining story of a night club singer (Morgan) and an orchestra leader (Carson) whose plans for opening a night club are temporarily stymied by symphonic conductor Ladislaus Cassel's (S. Z. Sakall's) stuffy manager, (played by Donald Woods) who feels that the noise emanating from the club will greatly disturb the genius.

Threatened with an injunction, Steve Ross (Dennis Morgan), the singer, takes the bull by the horns and wins Cassel and his beautiful daughter, Vicki (Martha Vickers), over to his side. When Steve's ex-girl Elaine runs off with John Braden (Alan Hale), the wealthy Texas oil man who has promised to back

In Comfort At The Drive-In

The question was raised the other day, "Why go to the Drive-In Theatres?"

And here are the answers. At Drive-In theatres patrons avoid large gatherings of people in a small area which has long been regarded by doctors as a menace to the health of American people because of the spread of communicable diseases.

At the Drive-In you and your family sit together (something that you cannot always do at other theatres) in the comfort of your own automobile. Without the constant offensive noise commonly heard at theatres, the Drive-In theatre offers relaxing satisfaction of a good movie always. No popcorn munchers to bother you, no boisterous gatherings, and no one in front of you to block your view of the picture.

Talk All You Want

As the movie progresses you may talk and laugh and comment with the other persons in your car and fear not that the people in the next car to yours will complain about your talking, for they cannot hear you if you talk even in an average speaking tone. Nor will you hear the conversation in cars around you, for the speakers to the movie is so near you (right in the car with you) that any outside noises cannot be heard.

In the center of the parking grounds is a large, modern refreshment stand, conveniently located for all patrons. It is easily accessible to all and people can walk from their cars to the refreshment stand without bothering the people in other cars. Located near the refreshment stand are modern, clean rest rooms, which are equally accessible for all. Near the refreshment stand is the projection room which houses the two large projecting machines specially built for Drive-In theatres.

For people who may ride bicycles or motorcycles or those who may walk to the theatre there are several comfortable lawn chairs placed up near the front of the cars.

Cool Evening? Try 67 Drive-In.

Walter Pidgeon and Greer Garson star in the film, "Julia Misbehaves," which will show Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the new 67-Drive-In Theatre. Teaming with the Pidgeon-Garson duo to make the movie a howling hit is Peter Lawford and lovely Elizabeth Taylor.

Thousands All Over The Country Enjoy Movies At Drive-Ins

Every summer night some $25,000,000 Americans go to the movies without leaving their cars. Drive-In theatres, one humble 100-car lot with noisy amplifiers, are now 500- to 1,000-car affairs with specially constructed car ramps, non-distorting screens, and individually controlled in-car speaker mechanisms. The finest inducement currently filling the gravelled parking areas is free admission to all children under 12 years of age, and a familiar sight in many Drive-Ins is a car driven by an adult and crammed with happy children.

"It is a startling fact," say bemused Drive-In operators, "that this summer there are no American youngsters 12 years of age."

Enjoy The Ozone
The managers of the Drive-Ins don't mind. They want the people to enjoy the facilities of the "ozone" (their word for outdoor theatre). Patrons can smoke or chatter or eat popcorn, without annoying their neighbors. There are no parking problems, no dress-up obligations at the end of a long hot day. Fat persons and cripples, who find it inconvenient to attend indoor movies flock to Drive-Ins. One manager near Sioux City, Iowa, stopped a paralytic friend at the ticket booth. "You've already seen this show, Joe," replied, "but I'm seeing movies for the first time in 12 years and I'm going every night until I make up for it."

Started In New Jersey
Drive-Ins are 16 years old, but their most rapid development has taken place during the past year. In 1933 a young Camden, N.J., chemical manufacturer, Richard M. Hollingshead, Jr., was looking for a depression-proof business. What luxuries, he asked himself, will Americans cling to longest? The answer—automobiles and movies—spelled Drive-Ins. In May 1933 he patented his brain child and founded Park-In Theatres, Inc. That same month he and his cousin, Willis Warren Smith, who financed the scheme, started building near Camden the world's first movie Drive-In. It offered space to 500 cars on sloping semicircular parking tiers which made it possible for people in both front and back seats of cars to see everything on a raised, outdoor screen. The sound, by today's standards, was crude, but it was a unique and comfortable way to see a movie, and even in those money-tight days it became an instantaneous success.

Other engineers quickly patented other devices for fitting cars onto sloping ramps, and by the time we entered the war America had 52 Drive-Ins, with 62 more a-building or contracted for. Even with Drive-In films being at first older pictures, the operators managed to clear $3,000,000 annually. Wartime gas rationing nearly stopped Drive-Ins dead, but by mid-1946 they were again sprouting throughout the country. There are 546 Drive-Ins today, with an approximate car capacity of 275,000. At the current rate of construction, there will be more than 1,000 by 1950.

Everybody Likes Them
Recently a Texas movie-house manager sent an assistant around to the neighboring Drive-In to appraise its increasing popularity. The assistant drove up to the ticket window, watched while two attendants polished his windshield, followed an usher to his parking ramp, attached the in-car speaker to his door, and relaxed. Next morning he reported to his boss, "I'm resigning to go into this Drive-In business myself. It's got everything but central heating."

The ramps are studded with rows of metal uprights, resembling parking meters, which hold two speakers. A patron parks so that his front window is directly alongside an upright, lifts a speaker into the car and attaches it by its own hook either to his door or over the top of his window. The speaker is about the size of a grapefruit, and has separate volume control.

Get Better Movies
Most obstacles to Drive-In operation, such as quality of films and bright moonlight, are being overcome. Hollywood producers, hungry for new rentals, are releasing better pictures for Drive-In theatres. For the first time now, Drive-Ins are able to get best releases booked for their theatres. The disconcerting effects of bright moonlight on outdoor screens have been eliminated by new screen tower construction. Some towers are conical, some tilted. Only the projection of the film, and not the moonlight, is reflected. These screens, the one here 62 by 48 feet, are gems of modern engineering. They can withstand a 100-mile-an-hour wind; a material called flexboard makes them weather-resistant.

The South and California have become the major fields of ozone-ular movie-going state, has nearly 60, and Illinois is close to that figure.

New York City recently got its first, a 600-car affair on Staten Island. One theatre chain is building 36 Drive-Ins in Michigan this summer. Chicago has a 1,500-car super-duper.

"We've got most of the problems of showing movies out-of-doors solved," say the Drive-In engineers, "so we're sure you'll enjoy seeing the movies under the stars."

The Whole Family Will Enjoy Going To New Drive-In

The new Drive-In theater offers many conveniences. Besides letting you control the volume of your own speaker and assuring you of a cool, peaceful evening, the management is positive that a visit to the Drive-In will be enjoyed by all members of your family.

The new theater located just south of Jacksonville is one of the finest Drive-In Theatres in the country. Many authorities on drive-in construction have commented that the design and construction of the new 67 Drive-In is one of the finest of its kind.

In only a very few cities the size of Jacksonville has there been established a Drive-In theatre. Because of the large number of drivers and movie-goers in this community, the managers agreed that Jacksonville was in need of, and could support a drive-in theatre. In the history of Drive-Ins there have been no failures, which definitely shows that the drive-in theatre business is a solid, well organized enterprise, and of course, a value to the community.

Drive-In theatres were first introduced in 1933 in New Jersey. Throughout the years, like most progressive businesses, the drive-in business has advanced to a degree where there are now more than 300 drive-in theatres in as many of the larger, more progressive cities throughout the Nation.

And why the upgrowth of Drive-In theatres? It's because drive-in theatres are not a fad—they're a new modern trend in the showing of motion pictures. Unlike many other new businesses which have sudden popular interest and a like-wise sudden death, drive-ins have, for over 16 years now, continued to grow and provide the best in entertainment for the movie-goers of America. Drive-ins are not a fad—they are an addition to our modern ways of living. Something to be proud of and to show our visiting friends is the new Drive-In theatre located just two miles south of the city on route 67.

MGM Luxury Liner To Show Next Week at Drive-In

The romantic adventures of a handsome captain on a cruise ship, aided and abetted by his stowaway daughter, form the framework of the musical goings-on of "Luxury Liner," M-G-M's Technicolor offering Wednesday and Thursday, June 29 and 30, at the New 67 Drive-In Theatre.

George Brent is the captain who sails his luxury liner on her way to Rio believing his stage-struck daughter, Jane Powell, to be safe at her New York finishing school. Miss Powell has other ideas. Knowing that opera stars Lauritz Melchior and Marina Koshetz are aboard the liner and, determined to win their patronage, she stows away on the ship and, discovered, ends up peeling potatoes in the galley! The exuberant Miss Powell, however, cannot be kept in her place. Before the cruise is over, she has escaped confinement, led a musically mutinous crew in the sing of the lulling "Alouette," wooed the opera powers with her versions of the "Gavotte" from "Manon," "The Peanut Vender" and an incredible ditty called "I Wuv a Wabbit" and, on top of all, engineered a romance between her captain father and lovely Frances Gifford.

Mating of Millie To Show at Drive-In Early in July

Showing at the new 67 Drive-In Theater on Friday and Saturday, July 1 and 2, will be Columbia's romantic comedy, "Mating of Millie," starring Glenn Ford and Evelyn Keyes. The film has been hailed as the hilarious tale of a girl who needs a husband quickly (for the strangest reason) and a very personable young man who doesn't object to marriage, as long as it doesn't happen to him!

"Millie" is the fifth picture in which these two popular Columbia players have appeared together, but it is their first co-starring vehicle. Another first is registered by Ford's turning to comedy after a whole career of heavily dramatic portrayals.
